Analyst View:

Growing awareness toward the health and hygiene coupled with plastic pollution globally

Since recent years, the governments of various countries across the globe including Japan, Germany, Thailand, and South Africa have launched anti-plastic strategies coupled with numerous stringent rules for plastic products and are effectively recycling plastics. As per the report 'Single-use Plastics: A Roadmap for Sustainability' published by the United Nations (UN), in 2018, countries such as Finland, Germany, Spain, Austria, Canada, Sweden, Australia, Thailand have the most successful stringent regulations for the plastic products. The governments of several countries are promoting the eco-friendly substitutes for plastic goods, which are expected to drive the demand for bamboo toothbrush worldwide. Further, only a small part of plastic toothbrushes is recycled rest go directly to the landfill. This results in huge plastic pollution. These factors are expected to propel the product demand in the coming years.
